

The Meeting Place For The Global LNG Industry

*LNG Exchanges with Saima Yarrow, Head of LNG, MiQ

- How can energy security be balanced with decarbonisation pledges?

I believe that energy security and decarbonisation go hand-in-hand. It's essential that any new supply considerations or deals are aligned with making a cleaner choice for the future.

- How can energy security be balanced with decarbonisation pledges?

A key example of this is that new projects will have to prove they're low on methane emissions to get approval.

- How can LNG stay affordable, reliable and abundant?

Certification by MiQ gives credibility to operators claims on being clean, and therefore the ability to be reliable and abundant. Given MiQ certification is ultra-low-cost – generally lower than 0.1 ct/MMBTu – there's no impact on affordability from certification.

- You are speaking at the World LNG Summit this year. What are you most looking forward to at the event?

I have been attending the World LNG Summit for over a decade, and always look forward to the real, honest conversations that take place. I hope this year will be no different!
